INGRAM MICRO SYMTECH DIVISION OFFICIALLY CHANGES NAME TO INGRAM MICRO DATA CAPTURE/POS DIVISION

New Name Captures the Ingram Micro Brand and Clearly Defines the Division's Technology and Services Expertise

BRUSSELS (Belgium)/STOCKHOLM (Sweden), October 9, 2007 – Ingram Micro SymTech Division today announced it will begin transitioning the division's name to Ingram Micro Data Capture/POS Division.

The new Ingram Micro Data Capture/POS (Point-Of-Sales) Division will maintain the division's brand promise of "One Source. Complete Solutions." and continue to operate as a separate division focused on delivering value-added products and services.

"Our new name reflects the positive business transformation SymTech has undergone in the past year since being acquired by Ingram Micro and defines the area of expertise and focus of the division," says Jan Gulbrandsen, Managing Director Nordics, Ingram Micro Data Capture/POS Division. "Today we are a global distribution partner that specialises in data capture and POS technologies and delivers adjacent technologies to provide complete end-to-end solutions, services and support. No other Data Capture or POS distributor has the global presence, capabilities and relationships to offer that value and convenience to the technology channel."

As part of its new brand identity, the division's web site address will transition from www.symtech.se to www.ingrammicro-dcpos.se. The web site will also within short time be updated with new features and functionality.
